Section A:

1. What is Social Media Marketing?

Social Media Marketing (SMM) is the use of social media platforms such as Instagram, Facebook, LinkedIn, YouTube, and X to promote a brand, product, or service. It includes creating content, running advertisements, engaging with followers, and analyzing performance to increase brand awareness, website traffic, leads, and sales.

2. Define Content Pillars with an example.

Content pillars are the main recurring themes or topic categories around which a brand creates social media content. They help maintain consistency, relevance, and a clear brand voice.

Example for Mitticool:

- Product education: “Benefits of cooking in clay pots”
- Sustainability: “Eco-friendly alternatives to plastic”
- Recipes and usage tips: “Traditional recipes using clay cookware”
- Customer stories: “Reviews and testimonials”
- Behind-the-scenes: “How our clay products are handmade”

3. What is the difference between Reach, Impressions & Engagement?

Metric	Meaning	Example
Reach	The number of unique people who saw the content.	1,000 different people saw your Reel = Reach: 1,000.
Impressions	The total number of times the content was displayed, including repeat views.	If 3 people saw the same post twice, Impressions = 6, but Reach = 3.

Metric	Meaning	Example
Engagement	The actions people take on the content, such as likes, comments, shares, saves, clicks, and video views.	100 likes, 20 comments, and 15 shares = Engagement.

In short: Reach = unique viewers, Impressions = total views, Engagement = interactions.

4. What is a Content Calendar? Why is it important?

A content calendar is a planned schedule that shows what content will be posted, on which platform, on which date and time, and in what format. It may also include captions, visuals, hashtags, and campaign details.

Importance:

- Keeps posting consistent and organized
- Helps plan festivals, product launches, and campaigns in advance
- Ensures a balance of content types and topics
- Saves time and avoids last-minute content creation
- Makes it easier to track what is working and improve future posts

5. What is Hashtag Strategy?

A hashtag strategy is the planned use of relevant hashtags to help content reach the right audience and improve discoverability. It involves selecting a mix of branded, industry-related, trending, and location-based hashtags instead of using random or excessive hashtags.

Example for Mitticool:

- Branded: #Mitticool
- Product-related: #ClayCookware #EarthenCookware #ClayPotCooking
- Sustainability: #EcoFriendlyLiving #SustainableKitchen #PlasticFree
- Location-based: #MadeInIndia #Gujarat

A good strategy uses specific, relevant hashtags that match the post topic and target audience.

Section B:

Clothing Brand Content Strategy

Brand name (example): VastraVibe

Industry: Clothing / Fashion

Target audience: Young adults aged 18–35 who like trendy, affordable, and comfortable fashion

Main platform: Instagram

Goal: Increase brand awareness, engagement, website visits, and product sales

A strong clothing-brand plan should rotate product highlights, styling ideas, behind-the-scenes content, customer content, and offers; Reels generally help reach new audiences, while carousels are useful for showing multiple outfits, angles, or styling options.

			posting over time	real-women content, lifestyle storytelling, behind-the-scenes	focuses on real working women, fit, comfort, size inclusion, and lifestyle content rather than only product photos.	Reels showing “one shirt, three office looks” or “desk to dinner” transitions.

Key Findings

- FableStreet has the largest audience at 562K followers and 5,501 posts, showing strong long-term content consistency and brand-building.
- QUA Clothing stands out for explaining the practical value of clothing—fabric, comfort, adjustability, and tailoring—rather than only showing outfits.
- SALT Attire is strong at styling-based positioning, using themes like workwear essentials, smart casuals, power dressing, and desk-to-dinner outfits.
- All three competitors use Reels, styling content, customer-focused posts, and lifestyle storytelling, not just plain product images.

  Recommendations for ARBINA

1. Create a clear brand positioning: Position ARBINA as an elegant, comfortable, and confident formalwear brand for modern working women.
2. Increase Reels: Post 3–4 Reels weekly showing outfit transitions, fabric details, shirt-and-trouser combinations, and office styling.
3. Use styling themes: Build recurring series such as “Monday Meeting Look,” “Desk to Dinner,” “One Shirt, Three Ways,” and “Minimal Formal Essentials.”
4. Show product value: Mention fabric, fit, comfort, occasion, care, and pairing ideas in captions—similar to QUA’s functionality-led approach.
5. Feature real customers: Repost customer photos, share reviews, and create a “ARBINA Women” or “Styled by ARBINA” Highlight.
6. Maintain a premium visual identity: Use clean backgrounds, neutral tones, natural lighting, and consistent fonts/colors to match an elegant formalwear image.
7. Use strong CTAs: Add clear calls to action such as “DM for size details,” “Shop through link in bio,” or “Comment ‘LOOK’ for styling help.”
8. Post consistently: Aim for 4–5 feed posts per week plus daily Stories to build visibility and engagement.

ARBINA’s competitors are stronger in consistent Reels, styling-led content, customer storytelling, and clear workwear positioning. To compete effectively, ARBINA should move beyond basic product posts and create content that helps customers visualize how its shirts, trousers, and formal outfits fit into their daily professional lives.

Meta Ads Assessment

Section A:

1. What are Meta Ads?

Meta Ads are paid advertisements shown on Meta platforms such as Facebook, Instagram, Messenger, and the Audience Network. Businesses use Meta Ads to increase brand awareness, website traffic, leads, messages, app installs, and sales by targeting specific audiences based on location, age, gender, interests, and behaviour.

2. Explain Campaign → Ad Set → Ad Structure.

Meta Ads Manager uses a three-level structure:

Level	What You Decide	Example for ARBINA
Campaign	The main advertising objective or goal	Increase awareness of ARBINA's formalwear collection
Ad Set	Audience, budget, schedule, placements, and optimization	Women aged 20–35 in India; ₹500/day for 7 days; Instagram and Facebook placements
Ad	The actual creative people see: image, video, Reel, carousel, text, headline, and CTA	A Reel showing ARBINA's new formal shirt-and-trouser collection with "Shop Now"

At the campaign level, you choose the objective; at the ad set level, you define audience, budget, schedule, and placements; at the ad level, you create the actual creative and copy.

3. What is the difference between Boost Post and Meta Ads Manager?

Feature	Boost Post	Meta Ads Manager
Meaning	A simplified option to promote an already-published Facebook or Instagram post	Meta's full advertising platform for creating and managing advanced ad campaigns.
Objective options	Limited goals such as engagement, messages, website visits, and profile visits	Full objectives including Awareness, Traffic, Engagement, Leads, App Promotion, and Sales.
Targeting	Basic targeting: age, gender, location, and limited interests	Advanced targeting: custom audiences, lookalike audiences, retargeting, exclusions, and detailed interests.
Creative options	Usually promotes one existing post	Allows multiple ad creatives, carousels, videos, Reels, catalog ads, and A/B testing.
Tracking	Basic tracking	Advanced tracking using Meta Pixel and Conversions API
Best for	Quick promotion of a post	Serious campaigns for leads, sales, conversions, and precise audience targeting.

In short, Boost Post is quick and simple, while Ads Manager gives more control, better targeting, and stronger conversion tracking.

4. Name any 3 campaign objectives and their purpose.

Campaign Objective	Purpose
Awareness	To reach the maximum number of people and make them aware of a brand, product, service, or offer.
Traffic	To send people to a destination such as a website, landing page, app, or Facebook event.
Leads	To collect customer details or enquiries through forms, calls, messages, or sign-ups.

Other objectives include Engagement, App Promotion, and Sales.

5. What is Pixel? Why is it important?

Meta Pixel is a small piece of JavaScript code placed on a website to track visitor actions, such as page views, add-to-cart actions, leads, and purchases002E

Importance:

- Tracks website conversions such as purchases, form submissions, and add-to-cart actions.
- Helps measure whether Meta ads are generating real results and return on ad spend.
- Helps Meta show ads to people who are more likely to take action.
- Allows retargeting people who visited the website but did not purchase.
- Helps create custom and lookalike audiences for future campaigns.

Example: If someone visits ARBINA's website and views a formal shirt but does not buy it, the Pixel can record that action. ARBINA can then run a retargeting ad showing that shirt or a similar collection to encourage the person to complete the purchase.

Task 2:

This is a proposed Meta Ads audience plan for ARBINA, an e-commerce formalwear brand. The audiences are created for campaign planning purposes and include cold, warm, and retargeting segments based on location, age, interests, behaviours, and past interactions.

Business Selected: ARBINA

Industry: E-commerce / Clothing
Business type: Elegant formal wear brand selling shirts, trousers, pants, and office-ready outfits
Platform: Meta (Facebook + Instagram)

Explanation of Each Audience

1. Cold Audience

A cold audience includes people who have never heard of ARBINA. They are targeted using broad demographic and interest-based targeting. This audience is best for awareness campaigns, new-collection launches, and brand-introduction Reels.adstellar+1

Example ad message:
"Elegant formal wear for modern working women. Explore ARBINA's new collection of shirts, trousers, and office-ready outfits."

2. Warm Audience

A warm audience includes people who have already interacted with ARBINA through Instagram, Facebook, video views, or website visits but have not purchased. This audience already knows the brand, so ads can focus more on styling, fabric quality, offers, and product benefits.

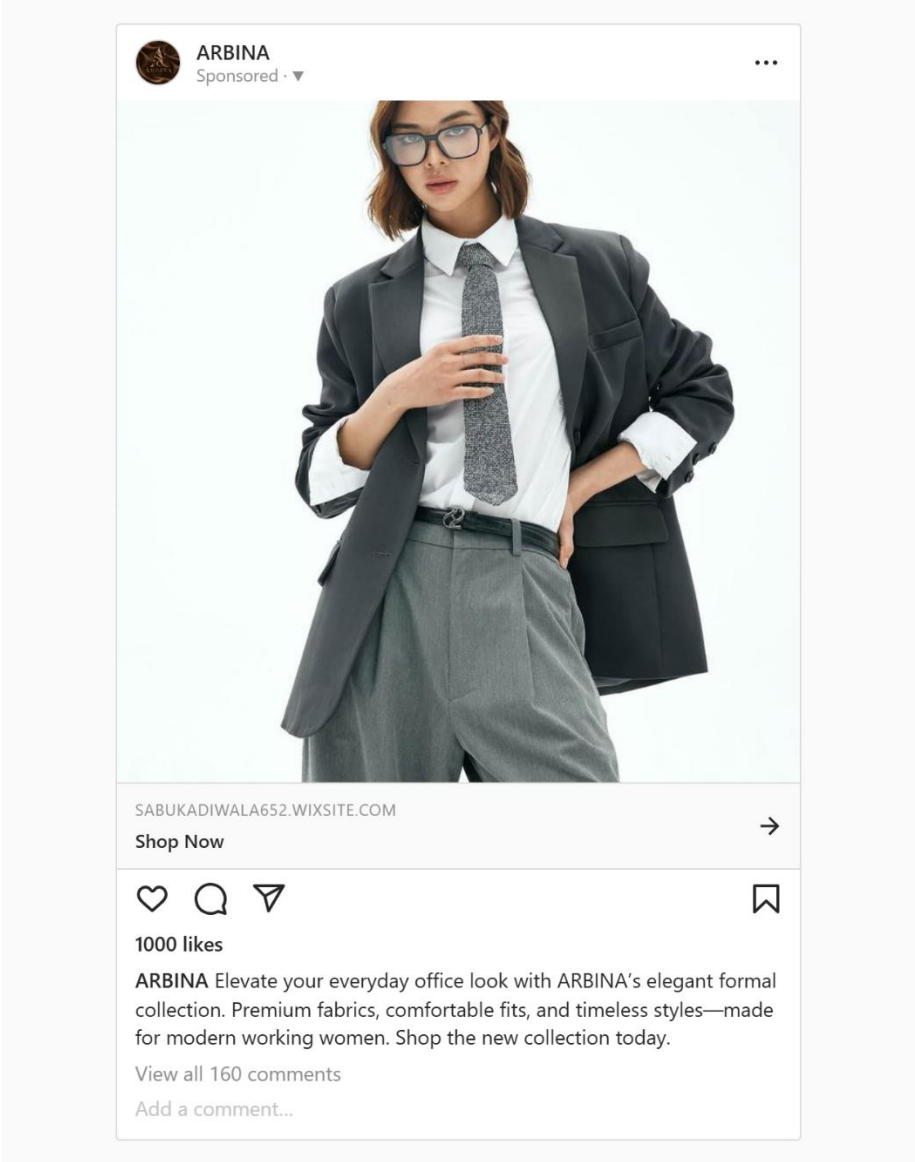

Example ad message:
“Still thinking about your perfect office look? Discover ARBINA’s elegant formal collection—comfortable fits, premium fabrics, and timeless styles.”

3. Retargeting Audience

A retargeting audience includes people who visited the website, viewed products, added items to the cart, or messaged the page but did not complete a purchase. Meta Pixel and website custom audiences are commonly used to build this group.

Example ad message:
“Your favourite formal look is still waiting. Complete your order today and enjoy free delivery on your first ARBINA purchase.”

This is a proposed budget and expected-results plan for ARBINA. No actual Meta Ads campaign has been created, published, or funded. The CPM, CPC, CPL, and result estimates are approximate and may vary based on audience, creative, competition, placement, and campaign duration.

Budget allocation should be linked to funnel stages—awareness for new audiences, traffic for interested audiences, and conversion/retargeting for high-intent audiences—while KPIs such as CPM, CTR, CPC, CPL, and ROAS measure performance.

KPIs to Track

KPI	Why It Is Important

Impressions	Measures total ad exposure
CTR	Shows whether the creative and message are interesting
CPC	Shows the cost efficiency of website traffic
Landing Page Views	Shows whether clicks are turning into real website visits
CPL	Shows the cost of each lead or enquiry
Add-to-Cart Rate	Measures product interest
Conversion Rate	Measures how many visitors purchase
ROAS	Measures revenue generated for every ₹1 spent

KPI	Why It Is Important
Frequency	Checks whether the same people are seeing ads too often

CTR, CPC, CPL, conversion rate, and ROAS should be monitored together to understand both engagement and profitability.

Optimization Strategy

1. Run the campaign for at least 7 days before making major changes, so Meta's algorithm gets enough data to optimize.
2. Test 2–3 creatives per ad set: Use different hooks, images/videos, headlines, and CTAs to identify the best performer.
3. Monitor CTR and CPC: If CTR is low, improve the first 3 seconds of the Reel, use clearer product visuals, or test a stronger headline.
4. Improve landing pages: If clicks are high but purchases are low, simplify the product page, show clear pricing and size details, and reduce loading time.
5. Reduce CPL: Test lead forms, WhatsApp click-to-chat ads, better offers, and more relevant audiences.
6. Exclude existing customers from retargeting: Do not show "complete your order" ads to people who have already purchased.
7. Avoid audience overlap: Keep cold, warm, and retargeting audiences separate so budget is not wasted on the same people.
8. Shift budget to winners: After 3–4 days, move more budget to the ad set with the lowest CPL, highest CTR, or best ROAS.
9. Refresh creatives: If frequency becomes high and engagement drops, replace the creative to avoid ad fatigue.
10. Track Pixel events: Ensure website visits, product views, add-to-cart, and purchase events are tracked correctly for accurate optimization.

This is a proposed complete Meta Ads plan for ARBINA. It includes the campaign objective, three ad sets, budget split, ad copies, expected results, KPIs, and optimization strategy. No actual campaign has been created, published, or funded as part of this task.
